2. Use a Variety of Rhymes

Mix perfect rhymes with near rhymes to keep your verse dynamic. A single stanza that ends with “rod” and “god” followed by a near rhyme like “gold” can feel fresh.

3. Pay Attention to Meter

Rhythm matters. Ensure that the number of syllables in each line matches your intended meter. For example, a 4 beat line ending with “rod” should match the syllable count of the preceding lines.

4. Experiment with Alliteration

Pairing rhymes with alliteration can enhance the musicality. For instance, “The brave bard bowed, holding the bright rod.”

5. Keep a Rhyming Log

Maintain a notebook or digital document where you jot down rhyming pairs. This becomes a ready reference for future projects.

6. Read Aloud

Reading your lines out loud helps you hear the flow and catch any awkward sounds that may break the rhyme scheme.

7. Don’t Force It

Sometimes the best lines come from abandoning a rhyme entirely. If a word feels forced, consider rephrasing or using a near rhyme.
